Welcome Message

On behalf of the International Symposium on Respiratory Diseases (ISRD), we are pleased to invite you to attend the ISRD & ATS (American Thoracic Society) Joint Conference, which will be held in Shanghai, China from October 24 to October 27, 2019.

At ISRD & ATS 2019, there will be joint scientific sessions organized by respiratory societies from all around the world. Current state of knowledge, particularly in areas of diagnosis, treatment and emerging ideas of respiratory medicine will be highlighted. Opportunities in Medical Internet of Things (MIoT) and e-Health will also be explored as important themes. It will be a great opportunity to network with peers and colleagues, to exchange ideas and strengthen collaborations, and to develop new connections around the world.

ISRD-ATS International Travel Award, ISRD-APSR Award

Background

In order to accomplish the Chinese dream that Chinese respiration influences worldwide, Professor Chunxue Bai set up the International Society for Respiratory Diseases (ISRD) in Hong Kong in 2011. The aim of ISRD was to establish a platform for foreign exchanges and increase the influences of Chinese respiration in the world. The goal of the ISRD is to achieve four changes, including "from establishing bottom of the building to designing the top of the building, from the academic follower to the academic leader, from the practical new to the international invention, from the Chinese manufacturing to the creation of smart". The International Society for Respiratory Diseases (ISRD) has been recognized by the well-known International Respiratory Societies, such as ATS and APSR, and has organized ATS-APSR-ISRD at the ATS Annual Conference in 2015, 2016 and 2017, respectively. In this excellent situation, respiratory scholars get together and hold ISRD annual meeting as well as gradually establish and improve the ISRD committees at all levels, to achieve the Chinese dream "convergence of international and then affecting the world". ISRD has the responsibility to train the international "four talented people" who has voices in the international conferences, has influences in international magazines, has positions in international society and has been recognized in the international society. In addition to the establishment of China Day, we also established several awards for youth below 40 years old:
